

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to an AV apparatus having a plurality of connection terminals to which a plurality of apparatuses can be selectively connected and designed to control the apparatuses connected to the connection terminals. In the AV apparatus, identifiers are allocated to the connection terminals, respectively, each for designating a specific one of the apparatuses so that the apparatuses connected to the connection terminals are controlled in a priority order.